“ I will never forget how happy Helen always was. I met her for the first time on prom night, when Becky and I (along with our dates) went back to her house to change for the party after the prom. We open the door and this big red dog greeted me. He stood on his hind legs and put a paw on each shoulder. Suddenly I heard laughter from everyone, including Helen, as I stood there with this big dog on the shoulders of my prom dress. We all became very close, Becky married my brother, and the dog moved in with my parents. That was in 1979. Rest in peace Helen. Love ya.

“ I never met Helen, but I know her wonderful daughter, Brenda. If Helen was anything like Brenda, she must have been a very wonderful person.
